ALL ARE WELCOME! A MEMBER OF BLESSED TERESA OF CALCUTTA DEANERY

Dear People of God,

I hope to conclude my series on time, talent and treasure today so let's see how well I can draw things to a conclusion.

I've been discussing the three duties of the good Christian through the lens of entitlement and I'd like to do that with our sense of sharing treasure with the Church and for that matter any other charity. Entitlement always puts the me ahead of the us and well ahead of them. Allow me to share an example.

The parish stands in need of a new boiler so has planned a "Major Fund Raiser" which will feature a dinner and a silent auction. Envelopes will be placed on the tables seeking donations from the people attending. The silent auction includes a number of items, all of which have a value listed. Enter the entitlement mentality. Entitled guests paid for a dinner so those envelopes on the table go unused; after all, didn't the guests fork out for the dinner? The silent auction has a trip to Bimini aboard the Minnow valued at four thousand, eight hundred dollars. Enter the entitlement mentality. The vacation, for which the parish paid half, brought in a whopping $1875.00.

That's the fate of most Catholic and many other charitable fund raisers. Guests forget that the whole idea is to raise funds, not lose them. To entice people to the silent auction, that dinner may have cost the parish the entire ticket price asked from the guests. No funds raised. And when we're talking fund raising, the stated value of an auction item should be the starting point of the bidding. The idea is not to find a deal but to help raise funds.

When the parish was founded, there was a custom to hold an annual "flour auction." The five-pound sack of flour was donated by the mill and at the auction, the winner immediately donated it back and this went on until everyone present had purchased the flour which was then donated to the organization for its use. Fund raising raised funds.

Today an entitlement mentality too often leads people to expect a deal and they will not seriously work to make the fund raiser raise funds. Rather, they complain that they weren't able to "get a deal" on that motor scooter in the silent auction! Not only do they complain, but few of them bothered to go out and find a few other donated items which might have helped raise the funds for which the fund raiser was developed.

I was at an art auction some years ago where the overall value of the art works donated by local artists was around $15,000. The entitlement mentality brought in a lot of people looking for a deal. I put in a few bids and "won" everything because few understood that the whole idea was to realize at least $15,000 and perhaps twice that, thanks to generosity. Needless to say the artists were not pleased, there was no second art auction and the organization which needed the funds had to settle for far less than was needed for their worthy projects.

When it comes to a parish and its monetary good health, there is no poison worse than the entitlement mentality. It robs the parish of much needed regular income, reduces the opportunities for ministry and can actually lead to the parish closing its doors when the bills become overwhelming. Each one of us should do what we can to share time, talent and treasure with our parish and with our community. That's what social really means.

Fr Chris
